PROBABLE ELECTRONICS FACILITY

OSTROV ASKOLD, USSR

A search was conducted on recent [ ] photography of Ostrov Askold (Figure 1) for the purpose of locating a cruise missile-associated radar facility. Ostrov Askold is an island near Vladivostok, USSR.

25X1

No cruise missile-associated radar facility was identified on the island. A probable electronics facility was observed on [ ] in the southeast section of the island at approximately 42-44-30N 132-21-15E. This facility (Figure 2) consists of a centrally located possible control building, three support-type structures, and two probable electronics van positions. One position contains three vans and the other position contains one van. The function of the facility cannot be determined.
